

Mar 6 09: Long Island Parent Features Mothers Centers

Long Island Parent Magazine, published by Liza Burby, includes a feature ad for the National Association of Mothers' Centers on page 15 in the March/April 2009 issue. Long Island Parent Magazine is dedicated to providing Nassau and Suffolk parents of children birth through age 16 with the information you need to help raise your children.

Each issue contains advice from local experts, original award-winning editorial, a comprehensive events calendar, community resources and family activities, comprehensive articles written by Long Island journalists, parents and experts. The emphasis is on supporting and promoting the work of local organizations that benefit our Long Island children and families and is for, by and about Long Island moms and dads.
